

The Scourge

Periphery

As I sit with eyes heavy, omen's clear
Face down in seclusion, the evil steer
What drives the stake within my heart
    This man he fell apart
    Now that the entrance is open wide
This black all around makes it's way inside
    What have you done? Will hate abide?
    Where is my death invitation? Elation?
Dead glimpse lurking beneath this prison, I
    I give my life for a taste of Taste of
    What lies beyond the dead place now
Fire burns rising beneath these sins in time
    I leave my life for the void
        I have not tried
        Survive
        I will survive
Collapsed ceilings above drop rage upon them
    Raging upon them
Stone cold fists and a memory run in on the blunt end of a blade
The blood that is spilled shall start my serenade
    To you
    I will survive
    I will survive
    Survive
Silence is bringing on the heart attack
Pushing and pulling going on within my brain
    It says to lay low (to lay low)
    Dead end
    The darkness latches on Now I am a product of a mind that wasn't ever mine and now it says "Kill them slow" (kill them slow)
    Weighed down
    I'm drowning in this stale moment
Renown is yelling at me from above
    This is a one way road
    Kill them slow
