

Wake up Lovin' You

Craig Morgan

My friends call me up
'Cause they know I'm down
Take me out to paint the town
And help me get over it. A pretty blonde girl
At the end of the bar
Buys a drink, gives a wink
And then it goes too far. We're out on the dance floor
Feelin' the gin
I finally start comin' alive again
I take her home for the night
And everything is right
Until the first ray of sunlight
And damn if I don't
Wake up lovin' you
I wake up lovin' you Thought if I could catch a plane
Touch down, out of town
Somewhere nobody knows you. Maybe I could get myself half of a chance
To get alive and act a like a different man
But my best of intentions were all shot to hell
And I found myself hiding in a cheap hotel Drownin' in the whiskey
Starin' at the T.V.
Tryin' not to sleep
'Cause I'm just gonna wake up lovin' you I wake up lovin' you Remember when I told you I was never going to stop
Lovin' you with all my heart
And soul no matter what.
Now it seems I'm breaking every promise I made
'Cause every night I'm desperate
Askin' God if He would just let me forget it
But I wake up lovin' you I wake up lovin' you
